Calf Causes Fatal Accident at Mossleigh

Last Monday evening a fatal accident occurred three miles west of Mossleigh, when Jerry Carpenter, age 45, of Prelate, Sask., was instantly killed when the truck driven by his son Roy collided with a calf.

They were returning from Turner Valley with a heavy load of Naphtha when the oil Nation had placed the oil well ditches, planning Mr. Carpenter and Roy underneath.

A passing motorist, with the aid of a tractor, was able to remove the body from the truck wreckage.

Roy was brought to the Arrowwood Hotel and under the care of Dr. Lissener is making satisfactory progress and although well bandaged up, is able to be out.

The body of the late Mr. Carpenter was brought to Arrowwood and on Tuesday morning Dr. Lissener, Coroner, empaneled a jury, who after viewing the body, adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning. Following is the verdict of the jury:

We, the jury, find that Jerry Carpenter accidentally came to his death, at about 9 p.m. on Monday, August 15th, 1932 at about three miles west of Mossleigh, caused through striking a calf on the highway which the driver, Roy Carpenter was trying to avoid. No blame being attached to the driver.

Rider to Above Verdict

There being no question but what this fatality was caused by stock being allowed to run at large on the highway, it is the unanimous opinion of this jury, that the Government, Police and Municipalities should take drastic action against all owners of stock who allow them to roam on any Road Allowance reservation, as in these days of heavy traffic they constitute a serious menace to this mode of travel, especially at night.

The deceased was taken to Prelate for burial, where interment took place at 9 o'clock this morning.

Immediately after the accident relatives were notified and on Tuesday evening the widow and brother of the deceased arrived in Arrowwood.

Heart felt sympathy is extended to Mrs. Carpenter and family in this sudden and sad bereavement.

Norman Horning received a pleasant surprise last Saturday evening when about forty of his friends gathered at his home to celebrate his twenty-first birthday. A very pleasant evening was spent in games and dancing. Norman was the recipient of some very nice presents from his friends and a white gold signet ring from his mother and father. At 12 o'clock supper was served after which the party broke up wishing him health and happiness during the coming year. After the practice Norman had cutting the birthday cake he should be able to carve the turkey when the time comes.

Dad, you're a lucky man,
How's that?

You won't have to buy me any school books this year. I've been left in the same class

British Manufactures Should Be Given Tariff Protection

The following article written by Mr. O. Edwards, manager of the Buffalo Hills Ranch, appeared recently in the Calgary Herald:

"Canada at present is the United States' greatest customer. All that we buy in the U.S. could just as well come from the British Isles.

"The U.S. has placed prohibitory taxes on wheat, the shipment of car-wheat, lumber, livestock and other natural products, into that market. Britain contains a market for 220,000 bushels of our wheat annually in addition to markets for our livestock, lumber and minerals. Why then should we not give substantial tariff preferences to British manufacturers entering our markets in return for free entry of Canadian and Australian wheat to the British Isles, against a tariff of several cents a bushel on non-Empire wheats. Such a policy of self-help amongst the members of the British Commonwealth of Nations should rapidly result in a return to a more prosperous era throughout the nation, which would in turn rapidly spread to other countries."

Ladies' Guild Meets at Home of Mrs. J. MacLeod

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Guild was held at the home of Mrs. J. MacLeod last Thursday afternoon. Owing to a number of members being away on holidays there was a smaller attendance than usual.

The devotional was led by Mrs. Board. The minutes of the July meeting were read and approved.

The President, Mrs. Mackie, announced that the quilt made by the members had been forwarded to the Bonnyville Hospital.

Miss Jean MacLeod favored those present with a witty reading which was much appreciated.

The next half hour was spent in viewing and admiring the beautiful grounds, after which all sat down to a well laden table.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. Leith.

Arthur Saunders, accompanied by Lauchlin McDonald with whom he has been visiting the last three days in Blackie, returned home Wednesday evening.

Having drawn his ear up the correct side of the road John Popoff, Jr., of Queenstown, was struck by an on-coming car while attempting to cross the road to get to his house Sunday afternoon. It appears that Popoff stepped out from behind his car without investigating to see if the road was clear. William Bremner, the driver of the other car, also of Queenstown, had no chance of stopping and was on Popoff before he could do anything. Severe injuries were sustained to the chest. Dr. Lissener reports the patient doing as well as can be expected.

Norman Horning received a pleasant surprise last Saturday evening when about forty of his friends gathered at his home to celebrate his twenty-first birthday. A very pleasant evening was spent in games and dancing. Norman was the recipient of some very nice presents from his friends and a white gold signet ring from his mother and father. Lila Service returned on Monday from Queenstown, where she had been visiting with her aunt.

Keen Interest Shown at Wheat Pool Meeting

In spite of the busy season, between forty-five and fifty Alberta Wheat Pool members attended the meeting held in Phillips Hall on August 12th, the occasion being an important conference of officials and members at public meeting.

Officials present were: Jesse J. Strang, Claresholm district director; A. W. Crommy, traveling representative and M. H. Ward, delegate for sub division B-7. All gave addresses and all took part in the answering of questions asked by those in attendance.

A. E. Starling, President of the Wheat Pool local, was the chairman and opened the meeting and introduced speakers.

The meeting was all business from start to finish and frank discussion of conditions and the present economic situation, in regard to this gigantic co-operative wheat movement, featuring the conversation. During the course of the evening, statement of the finance operations were given.

The many questions that were asked covered all features of the business operations and the replies given were received with satisfaction. The latter part of the meeting developed into a man-to-man discussion.

It was learned that the Alberta Pool was subject to economic conditions, but that the volume of business maintained a high standard.

In closing this interesting and active meeting, an appeal was made for patronage for the system.

The chief interest at the meeting for non-members was the learning of methods employed and of business conditions within the system.

The evening was spent in dancing. At twelve o'clock refreshments were served after which the party broke up in the wee small hours of the morning.

Raymond Lewenden, who has been spending his holidays at his uncle's farm, returned home Tuesday.

No Attempt to Collect Over-payment

Definite denial was made by Premier Brownlee in a statement recently made at Edmonton of rumored plans of the Wheat Pool to collect from this year's crop certain losses sustained in previous years. Premier Brownlee's comment to the Edmonton Journal was as follows:

"I have been surprised to hear that rumors are again being circulated throughout the province with respect to the Wheat Pool, to the effect that an attempt will be made to make up losses in connection with the 1929 crop by deductions from any crop delivered to the Pool this coming crop season."

"I wish to again state, as I did last year, that there is no truth whatever to the suggestion. The agreement between the government and the Wheat Pool, as ratified by the legislature, provides for certain fixed payments for a period of twenty years. No attempt whatever will be made to collect any sum from the various growers as individuals, but we fully expect the Pool will be able to make its annual payments out of its total earnings."

United Church Boys Return From Camp

The boys camp conducted by E.P. Cleverley, for forty miles west of High River, disbanded last Thursday after a week of fishing, mountain climbing, and other out door sports. From what the boys say, it is hard to find words to express the good time enjoyed by all. Camp was made on the bank of the Highwood at Marsden's Falls Aug. 4th. This is one of Alberta's beauty spots affording the campers a choice of recreations that would satisfy the most exacting tourist.

Apart from a few showers the weather was ideal for camping and the days were fully occupied. No regular schedule was followed and with the advice of their leader voted on each day pastime.

Two groups of seven boys each were formed and each chose a leader. Each day two boys were detailed for kitchen police work.

Owing to low water and hot weather the fishing was very poor. Gordon Richards won the distinction of being the first boy to bring a trout to the camp.

The personnel of the camp was as follows: Leroy Richards, Camp Leader, Gordon Richards, Herman Leith, Arthur Saunders, Irwin Scott, Norman Jones, John Swanson, Keith Cochran, Allan Cochran, Boynton Chrestenson, Group Leader, John Williams, Dale Williams, Leigh Williams, Bert Williams, F. L. Chrestenson Manager.

Up to the last minute the boys were faced with the discouraging task of doing their own cooking but Eileen Chrestenson and Elma Connel came to the rescue and volunteered their services for which all were very grateful.

The chief interest at the meeting for non-members was the learning of methods employed and of business conditions within the system.

The first wheat from the 1932 crop in this district was delivered to the U.G.C. elevator on Monday by Gaylon Jones.

Six young ladies from Toronto, who are returning from their vacation spent in Vancouver, registered at the Arrowwood Hotel Wednesday evening.

The Bank of Nova Scotia One Hundred Years Old this month

This month a great Canadian banking institution celebrated its hundredth anniversary.

Founded at Halifax in 1832 the bank of Nova Scotia has risen from a local maritime institution (one of the first of its kind in Canada) to front rank among the Canadian chartered banks. International assets it now stands fourth in point of assets among all Canadian banks. Its 339 branch offices stretch from coast to coast in the Dominion and include Newfoundland, England, West Indies and the United States.

The bank first opened its doors to the public in a room in John Roman's building Halifax, in August, 1832. Halifax at that time was but a small British naval port of 15,000 inhabitants, whose muddy streets converged at the waterfront, where seafaring commerce was carried on. Its only banking facilities were a private banking partnership started seven years before and known as the Halifax Banking Company, which wielded a political and financial monopoly over the province. It was in part to break this monopoly that the Bank of Nova Scotia was organized by a coterie of local business men headed by William Lawson, who held their first organization meeting at the Merchants Exchange Coffee House in Halifax in December 1831.

Mutual Trust Must Be Re-established

Can of the most interesting and thought provoking articles it has been our privilege to read for some time, and in these days of depression and pessimism it is as refreshing as a heavy shower on parched land, appeared in a recent issue of Toronto Saturday Night from the pen of Nicholas Ignatoff, a gifted young Russian engineer and thinker now resident in Canada. Mr. Ignatoff knows his native land and has written thoughtfully and sympathetically on the subject which we now refer to as "the British Empire as a Canadian seen it."

As he sees it the British Empire is not measured so much by external examples, by Bolsheviks or Communists, as by cross materialists within the Empire—those individuals who on despotic grounds make economic values—these individuals who have abandoned the best traditions of the Anglo-Saxon race and have plunged into the abyss of crude money-worshipping, greedy, corrupt politics which care nothing for duty and public service. The real enemies of the Empire are those who have cut themselves away from the vital sap of the historical, spiritual life of the mother country.

Mr. Ignatoff's article is a most interesting one. It is the opinion of one of the foremost economists of the British Empire Sir George Paish that the way to general recovery does not lie so much in the field of economics as it does in the moral, spiritual sphere, which affects primarily our political and religious life. Sir George Paish says:

"That as far as politics are concerned by far the greatest distrust and narrow self-sufficient nationalism, no economic remedy can solve the depression; and just as soon as our mental attitude is changed and gives place to a desire to co-operate, compromise and trust one another, the economic situation will solve itself. In his book, 'The Way to Recovery,' Sir George declares: 'My suggestion is that the world should be organized on a basis of co-operation with co-operation, a new and infinitely greater era would be introduced.'

Continuing, Mr. Ignatoff says that when it is pointed out that one of the root causes of depression is the collapse of our present credit system, it is necessary to point out the credit must still be based on production, on exchange with more value. In this new place, credit being based on the future, it is obviously non-material; it is primarily based on trust. The general breakdown of credit implies nothing more than the collapse of morale, the break-down of mutual trust. Internationally, countries are no longer trustworthy because they do not honour obligations, because they are always looking for a quick profit. Within the nation, the appeal among individuals—there is a general misuse of credit—is employed largely for anti-social purposes by greedy, unscrupulous, immoral individuals. The solution of the paradox of scarcity in the midst of plenty is spiritual, not material. A little thought will complete all of the truth of these observations, we are told, and we are assured "by the author."

Until fear is dispelled, suspicion allayed, confidence restored, there can be no real and lasting economic recovery, because, until these better conditions prevail, credit cannot be re-established. Credit is founded upon these things; trust is the one permanent foundation upon which a credit structure can be established. The only way to restore the credit system is to restore trust. So long as fear and suspicion rule man and nations, so long as narrow nationalism, because of such fear and suspicion remains the guiding policy of the nations, so long will trade obstructions be maintained, so long will there be an absence of credit. And so long will the people of the world suffer economic hardship and loss. We must repeat what the world's great leader stands in need of today is a spiritual regeneration rather than economic reorganization. Given the first, the second will automatically and quickly follow. But without the one the other is impossible.

Lad Real Leaders

U.S. Public Opinion Not Yet Ready For Debt Readjustment

The New York Evening Post, agreeing that virtual cancellation of debts between the United States and Great Britain is not quite ready for the debt readjustment which her eastern seaboard now recognizes as inevitable? Public opinion "is not quite ready" because the United States public and the press are personally perturbed, chiefly for political purposes, in pretending that debts were collected. When they began to collect the debts, politically as is now the case, public opinion in the United States will accept the cancellation as not only inevitable but desirable. The people are all in it if they are to be successful. Peter leaders, popular leadership they had, in all the allied countries, since the war!—Winnipeg Free Press.

An Absurd Practice

One well known radio station has decided that in future the names of radio announcers will not be given, and it is said that others are likely to follow suit. The plan seems to us to show as sensible as it would be for a brakeman to give his Christian and surname after calling out the next station.

"Well, I've brought back the car you sold me."

"How come?"

"Well, I bought it I thought '162' was the license number, but now I realize it's the year of manufacture."

Don't leave kind words unsaid. To-morrow may be too late.

Exposition of Fascism

Frederick Mussolini Does Not Believe In The Possibility Of Perpetual Peace

War is exalted by Premier Mussolini as giving "the seal of nobility to peoples" in his concluding exposition of Fascism, the Encyclopedic work which he published in his new newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia. Perpetual peace, the premier says, is impossible.

The dictum of democracy is this: that it is a failure more tyrannical than tyranny.

"Fascism, as it generally regards the future and the development of mankind, and apart from consideration of personal gain, does not believe in the possibility of perpetual peace," the premier writes.

The premier reaffirms the doctrine that the state is the only true religion.

Fascism is not indifferent to religion in general or Italian Catholicism in particular. The state does not have a theology but a morality. Much discussion of religion is taboo.

Progress Attended By Danger

Advancement In Any Line Means Risk Of Life

All the progress made in the world has been attended by danger. Scientists risk life that the race may benefit by their discoveries. Explorers leave the comforts of civilization and penetrate the jungles of the world in the effort to secure information about the strange people of stranger lands. A great deal of this activity may be prompted by personal curiosity and the ambition to achieve, but the results are to the advantage of mankind.

The young men of Brunswick boys decided to put to the test the claim that at midnight the stars may be seen from the bottom of a well. Descending a narrow, dark, laddersided shaft, they were never seen again. Their disappearance was never known. They saw never will be known. Mine gas did its deadly work. Three of the boys and two mine workers, who attempted rescue, lost their lives.

In the days of exploration, explorers tempt the strange elements with which they work in their search for something new. Explorers have left their bones in the far-off unknown lands. The development of aviation has been marked by tragic loss of life. All that progress might be made. Something of the same spirit of discovery prompted these unfortunate boys to search for the whereabouts of a mine shaft for the concentrations hidden from sight during the day. They were scientists in embryo; typical of the army of inventive geniuses ever in quest of the new. True, they did not achieve anything, but they tried—Terror Globe.

The Earliest Matches

Had To Be Ignited By Flint, Steel

The match received its name as a form of the French "mache," which itself was derived from the Greek name for the wick of a lamp. The earliest match, a tiny flat strip of wood, resembled a wick, in that it had to be ignited by friction. It had to be ignited by flint and steel and tinder. The next stage was to dip these strips of wood in chemicals. The resulting matches were known as "friction matches," but the first part of the name was dropped in the new style of match came into general use.

Made Four-Point Landing

Dog Niagara Falls, Ontario, Makes Parachute Jump

Cal, four-year-old silver grey pup dog of Harold Brooker, of Niagara Falls, Ont., upheld all the traditions of fast flying dogs when he followed his master from a wing of an servo plane in the first dog parachute jump known.

Cal would separate "chute" and float gracefully to earth, making a four point landing only a few feet away from Brooker.

Holidaying In the Rockies

Pack Trail Trips Open Up Way To New Experiences

A trip with saddle horses and pack train through the Canadian Rockies opens up a way to new experiences and a wonderful scenery that can't be viewed in another way. Expert guides, competent help and sure-footed horses make these trips that cross trails, followed by prospectors and trappers in the days of the gold miners; more enjoyment and less hardships than those of the pioneers.

These pack trail trips are becoming quite popular. Unfamiliarity with pack-trail country and the cost of the diamond horse may have in the past deterred many from taking an extended trip, but now the vacationist has nothing to fear from these mysteries of the pack trail. Outings of a week or two may be made, or from time to time sojourns as the outfitters provide for every contingency leaving the traveler free to enjoy the scenery, the fishing camp life and the sensation participating in something new and untried.

The organizing of these trips with pack and pack horses is necessarily a matter of great business. Safety and comfort of the party must be assured as well as the providing of all means by which the trips may be made enjoyable and memorable. The outfitters, most of whom well-known saddle horses, called for by colonization agencies and the money is contributed in equal shares by the federal, provincial and municipal governments.

The scheme, as explained by colonization officials, is primarily an unemployment measure and not colonization.

In Nova Scotia 317 applications have been approved and in Ontario 1,000 applications have been made some 128 families on the land under the scheme, Saskatchewan 296, and Alberta, which has just entered the plan, has approved 29 applicant families.

Back To The Land

Unemployed Are Taking Advantage Of New Legislation

The unemployed have commenced a trek back to the land in seven of the nine provinces of the Dominion under the legislation enacted by the Dominion Parliament late last spring. Information secured at the office of Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, was to the effect that although the legislation was not yet enacted in all the provinces, a large number of unemployed have already made homes for themselves on vacant farms and are in the process of settling independently.

The provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are now actively engaged in selecting and placing suitable families, and British Columbia is making a survey preparation to taking advantage of the arrangement.

The program which is authorized for a period expiring May 31, 1934, provides that unemployed persons, unemployed or retired, suitable for life on a farm, are assisted to the extent of $60 over a period of two years to establish themselves on vacant farms. The locations are found and secured by the colonization agencies and the money is contributed in equal shares by the federal, provincial and municipal governments.

No Deep Sea Fishing

Expert's Report Shows No Commercial Possibilities in Hudson Bay

The Federal Department of Fisheries is investigating the possibility of deep sea fishing in Hudson Bay. The department believes there are limited fishing possibilities in the rivers feeding the bay and in the estuarial waters along the coast lines. The fisheries in the Pacific Northwest, the Puget Sound, Board of Trade from William A. Found, Deputy Minister of the department. Mr. Found encloses also reports on the status of the salmon on the trawling operations of 1932.

In his letter the deputy minister traces back over Hudson Bay history to include previous fishing expeditions and exploration by the Hudson's Bay Company.

The letter says that while vessels have been navigating Hudson Bay waters for hundreds of years no fishery was ever developed. The Hudson's Bay Company spent twenty thousand pounds to establish a fishery there. They employed experienced fishermen from Europe, but were compelled to abandon the effort without success.

In 1914 three expeditions were sent to the bay. These found the estuarial waters contained fish but that deep seas were not.

Insurance President Believes We Are Now On The Upward Trend

T. B. Macaulay, president of the Sun Life Insurance Company, in an address to a body of Sun men who met in convention at Murray Bay, Quebec, said: "The development of our business in Canada has been following a steady upward trend for the past two years. When will the turn come? I believe it has already come, and that we are already a distance on the upward road. It is true that the improvement has been slow, but it is nevertheless a fact that the company is progressing rapidly."

New Telephone Innovation

Saskatoon City Subscribers Do Not Need Alman Clock

Saskatoon telephone subscribers in Regina, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw, desiring to make sure of getting up at any particular hour in future, may be called by telephone.

Inauguration of this new service through city telephone exchanges, was announced by Hon. J. F. Bryant, minister of telephones. The girl at "central" will act as an alarm clock, Mr. Bryant said.

Dr. Nicolas M. Gobineau, in a special dispatch to the New York Times the other day, said that he thought it was little short of "appalling" that America is delaying in bringing about a readjustment of the debts of the war.

Instrument Is Marvel Of Tonal Richness And Sweetness

A workshop which might well rival those of his priestly craftsmen of the middle ages is maintained by Brother Sylvestre, of the Oblate order, in St. Boniface, Manitoba. Brother Sylvestre, during his spare time in the past 12 months, has built a beautiful two-manual, pneumatic-action organ, perfect in degree of quickness and sensitiveness.

The instrument is designed along the same lines as Casavant Freres instruments and is a marvel of tonal richness and sweetness.

Brother Sylvestre is a Frenchman by birth. He came to Canada in 1891 from his native Savoy, where his parents had apprenticed him to a blacksmith. His school in Canada has been a seminary for the Oblates of Mary Immaculate.

It was in 1910 that he became interested in musical mechanics and for some years he has enjoyed a reputation as a maker of high-grade piano and chromatic accordions, work which gave him valuable training for the organ.

He has had a remarkable career, reaching a high point in 1922 when he was invited to play at a concert in the United States.

What Brother Sylvestre did was to play the organ for the organists who had been invited to play at the concert.

Anniversary

Here lies Sir John Guise,
Nobody laughs;
Nobody cries;
Where he's gone and how he fares,
Nobody knows
And nobody cares.

And perhaps that is the attitude of many towards the fact that our little paper has started its second year. We wonder just how many noticed that for the first time in twelve months the two numbers on the front page were identical. Last week they had Volume I, No. 52. This week it reads "Volume II No. 1." And it is to be expected that the many should take little notice and care less. But there is a small group to whom it means much.

The gleanings of interesting items is no small task and it is unquestionably the task of those connected with the paper to gather them. But many kind friends have shown splendid co-operation in contributing items. Friendships have thus been made and established. To our advertisers we owe much and we are confident that customers who have availed themselves of articles advertised have been satisfied.

During the year the size of paper has increased from five to six columns and we are able to supply our readers with accurate information on topics of world wide interest. We would especially mention the editorial.

And now we are away on another cycle and we are looking forward to an increased co-operation with our supporters and increased service on the part of our staff.

Local and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Smith and son Clifford spent Sunday at Stavely, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Townsend, former Arrowwood residents.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Kemper and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bell were Calgary visitors on Saturday. Mrs. Bell remained in Calgary where she will visit with friends.

Miss Rosemary Lord returned last Wednesday from Carceland, where she had been staying with relatives. On Sunday she left a visit with Miss Grace Campbell.

Mrs. D. Shultz, accompanied by her son, of Oklahoma, arrived in Arrowwood last Saturday on a visit with her son, Russell Shultz. They made the trip by car, a distance of 1900 miles, in four days.

Marjorie Lewendon celebrated her fourth birthday last Thursday afternoon by entertaining nineteen of her little friends at a birthday party. The afternoon was spent in games, etc., after which they enjoyed the dainty refreshments provided for them.

Rev. W. C. Lyle will preach in the Church of the Brethren at the morning service. In the evening the Arrowwood Male Quartette will give a half-hour of special music. This will be followed by a short sermon by Rev. J. S. Culp.

The Book of the Optimist

And it came to pass that a GREEN pessimist read in black and white that business was bad. And, lo, when he beheld these tidings he became BLUE. For he was yellow.

He and spoke, saying, "Woe me! And likewise whoso for I am stopped! Behold the wheels of industry are at a standstill. And there are none who will buy my goods. Thus let me sit, and don sackcloth and ashes. And it is well days are long."

But there was, in that same land, a RED BLOODED optimist who passed that way, saying, "Brother, why sittest thou thus in sackcloth and ashes with a countenance, BLUE as indigo?"

And the blue pessimist made answer, saying, "Hast thou not heard? LO, business is bad. The wheels of industry are stillled, and there are none who will buy my goods." "How gettest thou that way?"

responded the red-blooded optimist. "And where does thou procure that stuff? For behold I have this day advertized in the RESOURCE, and much business has come my way with many orders decorated with the customer's John P. P. In, lo, this is a season which promiseth much prosperity for the willing worker. Be not dismayed by talk of depression, for it is but the crank of him who has made an imbecile complex." And it was even so.

And when he presented these words the BLUE pessimist arose and shook off his ashes saying, "Now I will procure a shave and a shave and advertise in the RESOURCE and orders will come my way, for lo, I have seen that there is business to be had." And it was even so.

An Explanation

Our many customers are continually asking us why we do not have a phone. The reason is this: The Alberta Government Telephones would make us no concession during more than two months when we were not connected with the rural subscribers and insisted on the regular rate of $1.25 per month. We offered to pay half of this rate until we were connected with the country, but nothing short of the full rate would satisfy them. We refused to pay for a service that we were not getting, and told them if that was their attitude they could take our price.

We were told that Mr. Higgins, the District Manager, would call on us and talk the matter over, but to date we have not seen

Mr. Higgins and in the meantime we have no phone.
